25X1

1. [REDACTED] Alerted Larry McHugh, on the staff of the Joint Economic Committee, to the fact that our contributions to the Committee's Soviet study were forwarded to the Library of Congress last week. Mr. McHugh had not been advised of this by the Library and appreciated my call.

25X1

2. [REDACTED] In view of his prior notice to us of a letter which the Secretary of Defense had received from the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy regarding the William Beecher article of 9 October, I advised Frank Hand, DOD Liaison, that the Agency had been contacted today by ACDA regarding a letter they had received from the Joint Committee concerning Beecher's article of 2 October. I told Hand that it was the 2 October article on which we had received an inquiry from the Joint Committee.

25X1

5. [REDACTED] Returned the call of Olive Ray, in the office of Representative John Rhodes (R., Ariz.), on the request of [REDACTED] that his subscription to the [REDACTED] be transferred from his former residence in McLean to his new residence in Arizona. I told her it was not our policy to send individual subscriptions outside of the Washington area and explained the reasons, thus confirming what [REDACTED] had written to [REDACTED] earlier. She did not want to push us to make an exception to the policy and accepted my suggestion that she contact the Document Expediting Project at the Library of Congress for a subscription for [REDACTED] at Thunderbird Graduate School of International Management.

25X1 7. [redacted] Talked with James Knowles, on the staff of the Joint Economic Committee, and advised him that the first two papers on our European studies for the Committee have been forwarded to the Library of Congress. I also talked with Mr. Knowles about the setback of the due date on the Soviet studies from 1 September to 15 October and made it clear that the Agency would have no difficulty in making the earlier due date. Mr. Knowles suggested that we proceed as originally planned since this would facilitate the work on the study and might result in an advanced publication date.
